Practical Experience

During my training at GOIT, I gained extensive practical experience by creating three projects upon completing specific course sections. Each project was closely aligned with real-world work conditions, involving tools like GitHub, Trello, and regular team calls. Additionally, every lesson was reinforced with practical homework assignments — I completed approximately 54 assignments throughout the course.

I am continuing my education at GOIT, currently taking a course focused on data analysis. To further solidify my knowledge, I decided to apply it by developing my Web Portfolio, which I am continually expanding and invite you to explore.

Language Proficiency: English: A2, Polish: C1, Ukrainian: C2, Russian: C2.

About Me

I am a programmer with experience in Backend and Frontend development. I am also studying the field of data processing. I develop web applications using Python (Django) and work with databases (PostgreSQL, SQLAlchemy). I have experience with JavaScript, HTML, CSS, as well as technologies for data scraping and analysis (BeautifulSoup, Scrapy, Pandas, NumPy). One of my projects involves analyzing Solana cryptocurrency data.

My Hard Skills

Programming: Python (Django, FastAPI), JavaScript
Databases: PostgreSQL, SQLAlchemy, Redis
Data Processing & Analysis: Pandas, NumPy
Web Scraping: BeautifulSoup, Scrapy, Selenium, Requests
Frontend: HTML, CSS (Less), JavaScript
Testing: Web application testing (HTML, CSS, JavaScript, SQL)
Version Control: Git, GitHub
Cloud & Deployment: Railway, Docker (familiar with) AWS (basic knowledge)

My Soft Skills

I have strong communication skills, allowing me to clearly express ideas and engage others. I am adaptable, quickly adjusting to new environments and teams. I welcome constructive feedback and remain calm under pressure. I am highly motivated to grow, continuously seeking new knowledge and skills. I also have excellent time management abilities and a strong internal drive to achieve my goals.
